I am a front-end developer and designer seeking to use my creative skills to execute engaging and powerful designs. I am passionate about creating positive user experiences that are both functional and beautiful.

I have a rich background in education that has helped me to hone my abilities to plan and organize effective strategies for meeting the needs of various clients. I am looking to apply my skill set in the field of art and use my knowledge of design fundamentals to aid me in creating fully developed creative concepts, in both team-based and individual settings.
